Dear [redacted]

I would like to express my personal thanks and appreciation for your quick and enthusiastic response to our request for assistance in improving the index for a special set of Agency files. Your willingness to adjust personal plans and to give up the quiet and pleasures of a retirement to help out is a further reflection of your fine record. It gives me considerable satisfaction and a feeling of warmth to know that there are those among our retired employees who remain so loyal and dedicated to the Agency. Your attitude and performance are fine examples for all of us in the Agency to follow.

Sincerely,

/s/ W. E. Colby

Remarks:

EWP asked for a draft letter from the DCI to [redacted] at some stage. The planning of the project to index the Watergate stuff is finished and [redacted] is now involved in Phase II, which is getting people together to actually do the work. I am, consequently, pretty well out of it and attached is a draft of the letter that was asked for. It would be appropriate to send such a letter at any point. [redacted] crew, mostly annuitants and a few former employees, now wives of employees, might get a kick out of receipt of the letter as they start to work.

Mr. Colby did the letter for [redacted] by hand so we haven't worried much about format.
